Your goal.
Your future.
Our path.

Oberstufe
LORETO

At Loreto, young people at lower secondary level not only receive a solid general education and complete their compulsory schooling; they also lay the foundations for their future careers.

We support our pupils on their individual educational journeys and prepare them specifically for their next steps.

Stadt Zug

Lower Secondary Education,
Zug Municipal Schools and Childcare

Schulhaus Loreto
Loretostrasse 10
+41 58 728 80 08

Flexible and tailored

It is important to us that every young person can reach their full potential. To help them achieve this, we offer three school pathways:

Sekundarschule

The ideal foundation for young people who are academically strong or very strong. At this type of school, we encourage abstract thinking and provide pupils with a broad general education.

Realschule

The right type of school for young people whose academic performance is solid. At Realschule, we combine practical learning with targeted preparation for an apprenticeship.

Werkschule

Werkschule pupils are integrated into Realschule classes. They receive closer guidance and targeted support to help them build on their strengths.

Pupils are not permanently assigned to one school type. Depending on their academic development and overall assessment, they may move to another school type when appropriate.

In mathematics and English, pupils are also taught in A and B ability levels. This cooperative model allows Realschule pupils to attend the higher Level A if their academic performance is of the required standard. At Level B, Sekundarschule pupils receive targeted support that builds on their current level of learning and helps them develop academically.

Pathways after Loreto

After completing their lower secondary education, pupils still have a wide range of options open to them, such as taking an apprenticeship, attending an upper secondary business school or upper secondary specialised school, or transferring to a short-cycle Baccalaureate school. Depending on their performance, each of these options can also eventually lead to studying at a university of applied sciences or a university.

Watch the introductory film

More information

Why Loreto is the right place for lower secondary education

At Loreto, dedicated teachers provide high-quality, varied and engaging teaching at lower secondary level. Here are some of the opportunities and services we offer:

- Municipal elective subjects such as Spanish and Health & Sport, as well as an optional English course preparing pupils for the Cambridge B1 Preliminary for schools and B2 First for school exams
- Study studio for self-directed learning
- Cantonal elective subject 'Supervised Study', including preparation for admission to further schools
- 'Pit Stop' learning space providing a supportive learning environment
- Organised lunchtime supervision including a homework session
- A varied school culture: sports days, themed weeks, excursions, class and winter-sports camps

A varied school day sparks curiosity, encourages pupils to take responsibility and makes learning more enjoyable. At the same time, pupils learn in an environment characterised by trust, respect and transparency. At Loreto, young people in lower secondary education have the opportunity to grow, discover their strengths and reach their full potential.

Our values

We believe that a good education is shaped not only by academic achievement, but also by human values. That is why we have adopted nine values that guide us in our daily work.

Communication

(Building) Trust

Relationships and support

Respect

Transparency

Enjoyment and humour

Openness

Appreciation

Diversity